ACTIVITIES

The high school year has many high points. Some of these are: our basketball games, especially when our team did so well; freshman initiation, all those silly looking students, and Hillbilly Day, when we met our country cousins. There are many other events too numerous to mention that bring back smiles, sighs, laughs, and treasured memories.

CARNIVAL

The big all-school production of the Halloween Carnival started the year. This event is designed to raise money for the various clubs and classes. The candidates for each class were: freshmen--Kerry Carley, sophomore--Pat Sengstock, junior--Laura Coyhis, and senior--Lynn Kropf. Lynn proved her ability for selling the most tickets and was crowned queen by Mike Zeinert, Letterman's Club President. After the program by the grades, the crowd was attracted by the lunchroom and booths in the gym.

ADAM'S EVENING

The Senior Class Play, "Adam's Evening" was presented on December 1, 1965. The following seniors participated: I. Wolff, N. Strassburg, B. Felts, M. Zeinert, A. Strassburg, B. Hull, G. Maas, J. Hapke, P. Onesti, D. Raasch. Prompter--E. Tousey; Student Director--K. Kraft; Make Up--A. Whitehouse, D. Erickson; Lighting--J. Voelz.

Adam's Evening was a farce in 3 acts. It seems Mr. Adams was out late and, not wanting to tell his wife, he settled the problem by saying he was in an accident with another man who was killed. The resulting confusion certainly was amusing.

The Student Council consists of one representative from each class and each student organization. Its purpose as stated in the constitution is to: promote harmonious relations throughout the entire high school; improve school morale and spirit; provide a means for students to express their opinions; and provide orderly direction of school activities. A highlight of the group's activities was the Christmas party enjoyed by the entire student body.

The school day is divided into eight periods. They are used for catching up on lost sleep, writing letters and notes, reading magazines, and, by most of the students, studying. Our school offers two laboratories, one in home economics, and the other in science. These are shown in the above pictures. The opposite page pictures an average hour in study hall.
